Summer is in full swing and it's getting hotter. I hope every batch of beer you brew is being kept cool! My wife Jennifer and I enjoyed our two week vacation in Oregon. We spanned almost the entire length of Oregon and made it down to the Redwoods in California. We took a day trip to Washington to see Mount Saint Helens as well. The day time highs barely reached into the 70s the entire trip. We had many local people comment on how wonderful the weather was and how lucky it was that there was so little rain. Although the trip was not a beer oriented excursion, I managed to get some time in at many different breweries and brewpubs across the entire state of Oregon. The trip made me realize how different the beer culture is on the west coast. Even the smallest pubs had good selections of local beer and wine. It was a great experience and made me want to plan a more involved beer trip there.

Our club events are in full swing this summer and the Limbo competition is right around the corner. Get those entries bottled and ready for entry! Check the website and this newsletter for additional entry dates and drop off points. Our club meeting is scheduled at

The Rugby House in Plano on July 12th. The summer party is on the calendar as well so please come if you can. Hope to see you there!

What's Brewin'?

By Kimberley Rhea

I would like to thank Kelly and Kym Harris for hosting our May Brew Day. Everyone had a great time. We had several new club members there.

Chuck Homola hosted our Spring Party. The Bar-B-Q was delicious. He opened the pool, had the club kegerator/bar all set up, pool table and a horseshoe pit ready to go. Thank you Chuck.

Our next Brew Day will be at Doug Nett's home. It will be on July 23, from 9:00 am – 4:00 pm.

Lunch will be served. Check the web site for location. See you all soon!

Limbo Challenge Competition

By Jimmy Orkin

We had our second Limbo Challenge planning meeting on June 1. Future planning meetings will be on the first Wednesday of the month. The next meeting will occur on July 6 at BJ's Restaurant in Addison. Business will start about 7:00 PM.

Details of the meeting are posted to our forum under Competitions in the "Limbo Challenge 2011 Information Topic".

If you would like to assist in any aspect of the Limbo, I encourage you to contact me at director@limbocomp.org.

Brew Strong!

Cactus Challenge

The Cactus Challenge is scheduled for sometime in September, still no firm dates for entries. Once I know more, I'll post packing party dates and times on the NTHBA website.

Dixie Cup

The Dixie Cup entry deadline still has been posted, but the awards ceremony is scheduled for October 22nd, 2011. Once I know more, I'll post packing party dates and times on the NTHBA website.

Club Only Competitions

August Club Only Competition will be Meads, The Club deadline will be August 4th and we'll be letting the BJCP Class perform the judging at their August 7th class.

September/October Club Only Competition will be Specialty/Experimental/Historical Beers. Entries must specify the experimental nature of the beer (e.g. type of special ingredients used, process utilized or historical style being brewed), or why the beer doesn't fit an established style. Additionally, the entrant may specify an underlying beer style. For historical styles or unusual ingredients/techniques that may not be known to beer judges, the brewer should provide descriptions of the styles, ingredients and/or techniques used. The Club deadline will be October 5th and we'll be letting the BJCP Class perform the judging at their October 9th, class.

November/December Club Only Competition will be Hail to Hefeweizen. Club deadline will be November 9th. I'll post the judging location details, once I have a firm location to perform the judging.

Updates from the U of NTHBA

By Chuck Homola

Greetings all from the hallowed halls of the Univ of NTHBA. While we may be in the dog days of summer, things are moving right along with the current BJCP course. We have now completed 4 of the 11 classes. Here is a list of the remaining classes in case anyone may be interested in checking out a particular class:

July 10th – Sensory Evaluation (tentative date – will juggle if the doping kit does not arrive in time for this class)

July 24th – Wort Production, tastings of Bocks and IPAs

August 7th – Yeast/Fermentation, tastings of

Amber Hybrids and Strong Ales

August 21st – Troubleshooting, tastings of English Pale Ales and German Wheat/Rye

September 11th – Geographic Brewing Regions, tastings of Scottish and Irish Ales and English Brown Ales

September 25th – Recipe Formulation, tastings of Sour Ales and Light Hybrids

October 9th – Overall test review, tastings of Belgian/French Ales and Classic Rauchbier

In addition to the class content listed above – we are going to have some of our new local brew masters coming by for certain classes to lend their insight on various topics. At this time we have tentative commitments from Damon of Cedar Creek Brewing to stop by for the Sensory Evaluation class and Drew of Deep Ellum Brewing for the class on July 24th.

The July brew day will include an introduction to all grain mashing – if you are thinking about going all grain – you may want to check this out to get some insight into all grain brewing techniques.

The concepts around the “Introduction to Competitions” class are starting to be pieced together – more news on this as things evolve.

If you have any other ideas for classes you would like to have us put together – let me know by emailing me at education@nthba.org - thanks!

Stay cool, brew the brew, and may all your dreams be cheery mit beery!

Chuck
